

Tuesday, Nov.20 ... Old Trafford ... Man. Utd v Celtic ... 10 Years of Robbo

United walk out with Celtic for a testimonial match to mark my ten seasons at Old Trafford.

loining United is the affirmation for any player that has reached the top of his fession. So it's a great thrill me to see out a decade with target.

But with or without me, next Tuesday will be a night I'll always remember. It's my chance to say 'thanks' to those United fans who have stuck by me throughout the years. You don't know how much that support means to me.

The fact that I have never achieved that ambition has got to rank as the biggest disappointment of my time at Old Trafford.

I was certain we were going to be Champions when we started the 1985-86 season with ten straight wins, but we collected so many injuries in our first 17 games unbeaten that we simply couldn't resist the inevitable Liverpool charge to the finishing line.

And talking of injuries, that has been the other great disappointment of my United

For I'm told that I have now been sidelined for more than 85 weeks during the past ten seasons and missed well over 100 matches for United because of a succession of injuries ranging from a dislocated shoulder to my current ruptured Achilles.

My best football for United has undoubtedly come in the seasons when I've been relatively free of

In my first three years at the club I rarely missed a match and felt in great nick. And when I got another uninterrupted run going in 1988, I was again putting in some of the best performances of my

Now I'm just a couple of weeks away from yet another return to duty, although I must have made more comeback performances than Frank Sinatra over the years.

Yet even at the age of 33. I believe that given a decent run in the side I could still help United chase Liverpool for that elusive > y biggest fear when I picked up my latest injury was that I would miss out on United's return to European action.

So I'm delighted that the lads have successfully guided us through the first two rounds of the Cup-Winners' Cup and into next March's Quarter-Finals.

For it was a Cup-Winners' Cup Quarter-Final against Barcelona in 1984 which provided me with the highlight of my United career

I'll never forget the atmosphere at Old Trafford that night as we overturned a 2-0 first-leg deficit to go through 3-2 on aggregate. The noise from the Stretford End as that third goal went in will live with me forever.

Lifting the FA Cup on three occasions have also provided me with some very special memories, as well as the only medals of my

People automatically assume that the first win, against Brighton in 1983, meant the most to me. But last season's defeat of Crystal Palace was the special one because of all the criticism the team had taken in the previous

Now we're in the last eight of the Cup-Winners' Cup and the last 16 of the Rumbelows Cup and I really believe I could end my testimonial season with another winners' medal.

That would be a great way to celebrate 10 years at United.

I've probably seen more than a hundred players come and go in my time at Old Trafford, and though the club has never been afraid to go into the transfer market I don't think they'll ever manage a better deal than the one Ron Atkinson pulled off when he signed Paul McGrath for Just £30,000.

If it wasn't for his recurring knee problems, Paul would have been one of the best players in the entire world.

As a defender, he was virtually unbeatable. Speed, aerial power, tough in the tackle and as hard as nails. He had the lot.

And the same was true of Norman Whiteside, who would have been a world beater but for the injuries he's suffered as a legacy of a cartilage operation he underwent as a 16-year-old.

easoned travellers Torquay are taking one of the longest routes ever out of the Fourth Division

From their soccer outpost on the coast of darkest Devon The Gulls have clocked up something in the region of 250,000 road miles in their 19-year bid to escape the clutches of Division Four.

But this season, as they sit proudly at the top of the table, the Torquay coach will hopefully complete the last lap of an arduous journey to the Third Division.

No other club in the Football League travels further than the road-weary warriors from Plainmoor whose 'local derby' isn't even in the same country!

Their shortest away trip across the Welsh border to Cardiff adds another 288 miles to the clock – and a few hundred pounds more to the club's travel bill which will stand at £25,000 by the end of the season.

Worst journey of all is the 756-mile round trip which takes them from one end of the country to the other for the 'glamour' fixture against

All in all it's a tough programme which, inevitably, takes it's toll on the resolve and resources of players and club.
As secretary David Turner explains: "Not only are all these long journeys very tiring for the players, they also put quite a strain on our limited financial resources.

'Travelling expenses, coupled with the cost of the necessary overnight stays, will run into something like £25,000. For a club like our's that is an horrendous figure – the equivalent of what we can expect to take through the turnstiles in three home matches.

"Carlisle is a nightmare journey for us and means we don't arrive back in Torquay until the early hours of Sunday morning."

Away day trips on a good day can be tiresome, but even more so when roadworks and other traffic hold-ups add hours to journeys which have long exhausted the card-school kings, bookworms and video freaks.

"Earlier this season," Mr Turner recalls. "We left for Rochdale at 12.30 pm on Friday lunch-time for a journey which should have taken something like four and a half hours. We reached our destination at 10.30pm!

"The unfortunate thing is that the Fourth Division is made up of so many Northern clubs, so that's another incentive for us to win promotion this season."

but Tommy's still going strong

WHEN it comes to scoring goals old father Tynan is the daddy of them all – and the evergreen striker is still rolling along.
On Saturday, Tommy Tynan celebrates his 35th birthday, just three weeks after a celebration of a different kind.
It was on October 27 that his double blast in Torquay's 3-0 victory over Carlisle took his career goal tally through the 300 barrier for all competitions.

barrier for all competitions.

The 250-League goal mark is just around the corner and Tynan doesn't intend the success story to end there.

"After this season I'll probably play for one more year so, hopefully, there are few more goals to come yet," says the much-travelled striker.

"By the end of October I'd got ten goals which, for me, is something of a flying start. If I can keep that going and help Torquay win promotion I'll be more than happy."

Tynan joined Torquay in the Tynan joined Torquay in the summer when he was given a free transfer by Plymouth and he's already taking his first steps up the managerial ladder in his role as player-coach.

"I would have loved another year at Plymouth but it wasn't to be and I had no choice but to accept a free," he says. "But the move to Torquay has worked out

"I'm playing more games than ever in the Fourth Division and the legs are getting a bit weary these days but when we play on a Friday it means I've got the weekend to recover," he smiles.

"Dave Smith has got a useful side together down here and I'm enjoying playing in an attack-minded team which creates so many chances. Promotion is there if we want it badly

Burridge has turned down the kind of football fortune now being earned by Paul Gascoigne by refusing to act the clown.

Perfectionist Burridge, who celebrates his 39th birthday next month, reveals: "When I was at Crystal Palace ten years ago I got a lot of publicity for my pre-match warm-up routine.

"I was going to gymnastic school at the time and before games I'd go through a routine involving somersaults and

"Terry tried to make me into a character like Gazza, but l wasn't interested. I just wanted to have a good game and get off home to the missus

"I could have milked it and made a lot of money out of it all, but I didn't want to know.

'Dedicated'

"Even now I hate it when people call me a 'character'.
I'm a very dedicated professional."
In fact Budgie is such a perfectionist that he is prepared to go to extraordinary engths to prolong his career. Tee-total and a non-smoker, he puts in more training than anybody else at St. James Park.

Then when he goes home he'll study videos of matches, sleep, check out his diet and play hypnotic tapes to help him

He also studies body-building magazines and even eats baby food for extra carbohydrates!

"I'm stronger, hungrier and fitter than I've ever been, claims the star who's also seen action with Workington, Blackpool, Aston Villa, Southend, Palace, QPR, Wolves, Derby, Sheffield United and Southampton in a remarkable 23-year career. "I'm a loner. I know how to

Yet Budgie admits he came very near to quitting in the summer over the row that saw Sunderland promoted to the First Division in spite of finishing six points behind Newcastle in the table.

Sunderland sneaked in by the back door after beating third-placed Newcastle in the Play-Offs before losing to disgraced Swindon in the final. "How Sunderland won row Sunderland won promotion on one game was ludicrous," Burridge continues. "I couldn't believe it. I still don't know how we didn't go up when Swindon were booted out.

"It was the biggest disappointment of my career and it made me feel I'd had enough. I was ready to retire as a protest over the decision

"But then I went on holiday and had a rethink. The truth is that I live for football and couldn't give it up."

"Nothing in football frightens me any more and I go into each game looking forward to giving a great

Don't Bash Bassett

The FA are wrong to accuse Dave Bassett of bringing the game into disrepute for recent comments about Paul Gascoigne. Whatever happened to freedom of speech?

SIMON FLETCHER, GAINSBOROUGH, LINCS

I'm afraid there's no such thing in football any more. It's not something which affects me because I am no longer working within the game so I'm free to express an honest opinion. But any manager or player who makes the slightest criticism of an opponent is leaving himself wide open to that disrepute charge. I'm not saying that Bassett's comments about Gazza were necessarily correct, but if that's his honest opinion of the player he should be allowed to voice it.

Victim Souness

Why is Graeme Souness continually victimised by the SFA? What harm did he do by joining his players on the pitch to celebrate their Skol Cup Technically he's broken his touchline ban, but of course it's all nonsense. There has always been a lot of hostility towards Rangers in Scotland, but if Souness gets more punishment for this silly incident then the club should seriously consider approaching the English FA and trying to do a deal which would allow them to form some kind of British League.

Roy's The Boy

England may have a number of good strikers available at present, but surely not so many that they can afford to let a player of Roy Wegerle's class declare for the Wegerle is a good player currently enjoying an excellent season for QPR. He's quick, skilful, direct and scores goals and I'm sure Graham Taylor has considered him for England. But, as you say, England do have a number of other top quality strikers available at the moment and it's not possible to accommodate them all. Wegerle (left) is better off playing for the States and assuring himself of a place in the 1994 World Cup than running the risk of playing in one meaningless friendly for England and never making another

If those people jeering John Fashanu because of his brother's recent revelations really believe they'll drive the Wimbledon striker out of the game, they must be even more stupid than I thought. Giving stick to someone because of the actions of others is bad enough. But giving stick to a great professional like Fash is a total waste of time. There are times in life when we all have to perform public duties when we'd rather keep a low profile. But John has never ducked a challenge and I'm sure he'll pull through this ordeal. He's never been afraid of hard work and I don't know why he's still at Wimbledon. He deserves a bigger and better team erton were premature in sacking lin Harvey. The team may have ide a bad start to the season, but are was plenty of time for him to we sorted things out.

Hard Luck Harvey

It was inevitable that Harvey would go. He'd been given a fair crack of the whip at Goodison but instead of the hip at Goodison but instead of the tuation improving, it was getting orse. Harvey has to take some of the lame because a lot of his expensive ignings haven't worked, but there were a lot of other things out of his ontrol. He was on a hiding to nothin he minute he inherited a team of eague Champions from Howard fendall. There was no way he could Kendall. There was no way he could improve on that. And now Kendall has returned to Goodison, with Harvey back as his assistant, he has a tough job on his hands. The fans expect success from that duo and they will have to deliver.

Solid Spurs

You have always said that Spurs' back four lets them down, but now they've got the best defensive record in the

WAYNE LLOYD, RADLETT, HERTS

In the past the Spurs back four has been brilliant one week and all the over the shop the next. They were at their worst against Liverpool the other week but they have been more consistent this season and it's starting to show in their results. Forwards, who have to be creative, can't be expected to turn in the same level of performance every week. But it's far easier to be destructive and that's why consistency from defenders.

PSV's shock First Round European Cup-Winners' Cup exit at the hands of unfancied French club Montpellier, followed by a 3-1 League defeat by arch rivals Ajax, set the alarm bells ringing.

According to the English tabloids Robson, no stranger to criticism in his eight years as national boss, has become a laughing stock in Holland where his £250,000 job is on the line.

But Van Breukelen is at pains to point out that no-one is ridiculing

"He wants us to play faster, more effective football and the way things are going we can certainly win the Dutch League by

"Of course, the defeat by Montpellier did put a little extra pressure on Bobby – but not as much as the English papers think. In any case, after all he has been through in his life, I am sure he can handle it.

"The players are happy with Robson and, as far as I am aware, so is the Managing Director. His job is not in danger."

PSV supremo Kees Ploegsma adds weight to Van Breukelen's argument and gives the English papers food for thought when he announces: "There is no pressure on Bobby. He has our complete

Van Breukelen, however, puts

"The club has invested millions and millions of pounds in top class players over the last few years – people like Bosman, Romario, Koeman and Popescu – and when that sort of money is splashed out a coach knows he has to win something at the end of the season. "Bobby has not had an easy

He has been offered a new contract which will keep him at the club until 1993, but he has indicated that he would like to return to England when his current deal terminates at the end of the season.

"I have many fond memories of my time at Nottingham Forest and I would like to end my career in England," he says.

The 34-year-old keeper is Holland's most experienced player with 56 caps for his country – and he has no intention of hanging up his international gloves just yet.

"Peter Shilton and Dino Zoff both played until they were in their 40s and proved age is no barrier. I am certainly not too old to carry on playing at the highest level."

he cream of the continent exposed the European dream of Britain's best for just what it is ... a dream.

After the euphoria of the first-leg results, English and Scottish clubs alike came crashing down to earth with an almighty thud on a night of doom and gloom.

And it was at the hands of quality Italian opposition that the cruelest lessons were learned.

Both Aston Villa and Hearts took two-goal leads to Milan and Bologna, respectively, only to surrender the advantage amidst intimidating scenes of calamity and controversy.

Villa are still seething about the way they were 'cheated' by the gamesmanship of the calculating Italian giants Inter and the slipshod performance of a poor Soviet official.

But, while the arguments about Inter's third goal in particular rage on, the fact remains the same. Villa were no match for a Milan side sprinkled with world class stars rich in the ways of European competition.

The way Villa tried to defend a 2-0 lead amidst explosive scenes inside the San Siro Stadium was naivety at its most extreme. Former Villa boss Graham Taylor hit the nail on the head when he said: "They played too deep and threw it away. They want their backsides kicking.

Jurgen Klinsmann reduced the deficit as early as the sixth minute, Villa were under an Alamo-type siege they were never going to survive.

Even question marks against the killer goals by Berti and Bianchi cannot change the fact that Villa were out-thought and out-fought by a team, literally, in a different League.

anchester United will fly a lone British flag when they resume Cup-Winners' Cup business next

They saved Britain from a complete European wipe-out by sweeping aside brave Wrexham - although their comfortable passage against a bunch of teenagers hardly eases the pain felt elsewhere.

Wrexham boss Brian Flynn was forced to pack his side with untried YTS youngsters, but they did him proud and United didn't have it all their own way.

The 2-0 victory (5-0 overall) didn't satisfy United manager Alex Ferguson on the night but at east he can spend the winter ooking forward to a more lamorous Quarter-Final tie.

"It's a lovely feeling," he confesses. "The draw in December should give us a big name and that will keep us bubbling along nicely until March."

First-half goals by Mark Robins and Steve Bruce led to complacency in the United ranks and Fergie blasted them and rergie biasted them afterwards saying: "We stopped playing in the second-half and our performance was unfair to the fans. I am not going to tolerate players soft pedalling their way through matches." Certainly, United's attitude must be better next March when they could be facing the likes of Barcelona, Sampdoria or Juventus in a money-spinning tie which could bring in as much as A irdrie are currently the most prolific goalscorers in the English and Scottish Leagues with 31 goals from their first 12 First Division games.

Billy Barr finally broke Halifax's goalscoring duck when he scored their first goal of the season in the 3-0 win at Carlisle – after 730 minutes of League action!

hester could do themselves a favour by getting out of the habit of being on the wrong end of 2-1 scorelines. Their first five defeats of the season were all by that margin.

avid O'Leary (right) marked his 53rd appearance for the Republic of Ireland with his first international goal in the 5-0 win over Turkey -- although he did score in a World Cup penalty shoot-out.

ast Fife's 1-1 draw with Cowdenbeath on October 13 ended a run of ten matches in which the Scottish Second Division leaders had scored two goals on each occasion.

rulham, with just eight points from their first 11 games, are on course to make club history. Relegation this season would condemn them to Fourth Division football for the first time.

ordon Davies provided a talking point other than the threat of relegation when he broke Fulham's League goalscoring record with his 155th goal in the 2-2 draw with Swansea on October 20.

ull City have one of the leakiest defences in the Football League having conceded 18 goals in away games alone – that's 28 in their first 12 League games.

an Rush took his goal tally for Liverpool to 251 with his hattrick in the Rumbelows Cup win over Crewe on October 9 – 166 of those have come in the League.

their 14th League fixture.

uventus, so they say, want to make Des Walker the highest paid British player of all time. His basic weekly wage will be £7,700 a week – and that's without bonuses!

ettering set a new Vauxhall Conference record for an unbeaten start to the season when they defeated Barrow 1-0 in eyton Orient are a Jekyll and Hyde team having won their first five home games – scoring 13 goals in the process – and lost all five away games ... managing just one goal.

Merseyside giants Liverpool are at their most dangerous in the closing stages of each half. Two thirds of their League goals have been scored between 30 and 45 minutes and 75 and 90.

Nigel Clough hasn't been on target too often this season but he did have the distinction of scoring the first goal Spurs conceded away from home ... a run of five League games.

League games.

xford's Paul Simpson ended his side's four-match run without a goal by scoring a hat-trick in just 16 minutes against Brighton – and then got a ticking off from manager Brian Horton for going for a fourth when he should have passed.

eter Beardsley is clearly benefiting from Kenny Dalglish's 'get greedy' plea having scored nine goals in nine League starts. His best season's total for Liverpool is 15.

ueen's Park must feel as though they're playing their home games in a morgue. Their Second Division attendances at Hampden Park are normally around the 750 mark... the capacity is 75,000!

uel Fox ensured that Tottenham's longstanding record of 11 League victories on the trot remained in tact when he scored the equalising goal which brought Liverpool's winning run to an end.

toke City recorded their sixth League win of the season when they beat Fulham 2-1 on October 13 – equalling the number of victories they achieved throughout the whole of last season.

ommy Tynan took his remarkable career tally to 301 goals when he hit a brace for Torquay in the recent 3-0 win over Carlisle. He scored his first ever goal for Swansea (on loan) 15 years ago!

Wimbledon celebrate a rare Plough Lane goal.

Wimbledon, like the rest of the Football League, clearly don't like playing at Plough Lane either. Eight of their first 11 League points came from away fixtures.

Manchester City defender Mick McCarthy had quite a week recently. He played for Millwall reserves on the Monday, the Republic of Ireland on the Wednesday and The Lions first team on Saturday – and won them all.

y oung Exeter midfielder Ben Rowe was sent-off 53 minutes into his side's 3-2 defeat at Fulham ... without getting on the field. He was dismissed for a show of dissent from the dug-out.

eter Shilton is to be honoured with a star studded testimonial match at White Hart Lane on Tuesday, December 18.

Shilton has never had a testimonial at club level so it was decided to honour his world record 125 international caps with a well deserved benefit.

Graham Taylor has agreed to pick an England side to take on a World Cup team which will be selected by former West German team manager Franz Beckenbauer.

England will field many of their World Cup stars including Paul Gascoigne and Gary Lineker and, hopefully, Bryan Robson.

Among the world stars who have agreed to play are German trio Lothar Matthaus, Andreas Brehme and Jurgen Klinsmann.

Beckenbauer says: "I have known Peter for many years and hope we can provide a spectacular evening and a fitting tribute to a great goalkeeper.'

Newcastle chairman Gordon McKeag has dismissed speculation suggesting that Kevin Keegan and Arthur Cox were being lined up as a managerial duo to replace Jim Smith.

Newcastle and Scottish Breweries, negotiating to become the club's main sponsors, were reported to want to take Keegan and Cox back to the club where they enjoyed such success.

But McKeag says: "This topic has certainly not been aired in the boardroom and I don't expect it to be.

"This sort of thing is deplorable at a time when everybody with the club's interests at heart should be supporting the manager.

TELEBALL, Bridge St NP5 1BQ

ONY Cottee's Everton career has taken more twists than a soap opera, but he believes he can fulfil his £2 million promise by playing it Howard's Way.

Little has gone right for Cottee since he broke the British transfer record in the summer of 1988 and pledged to score 30 goals a season for the Merseyside club.

Injuries, illness, goal droughts and transfer demands have all contributed to his Mersey misery as Everton have slipped back into the shadows of Liverpool. But the return of Howard Kendall has breathed new life into the ailing club – and given Cottee fresh cause for optimism. Within days of Colin Harvey's inevitable dismissal as manager, Cottee found himself banished to the substitutes' bench - not for the first time – by caretaker boss

Jimmy Gabriel.
And, while he appreciates that his first team place may not be guaranteed under the new Kendall-Harvey regime, he says: "Having been instantly dropped by Jimmy Gabriel I was pleased to hear of Howard's appointment.

'Opportunity'

"His arrival gives me the chance to re-establish myself in the first team and get my Everton career going again. My first couple of years at Goodison have been topsy-turvy to say the least but this is a great opportunity for me to start afresh.

"Howard, of course, may have different ideas about the role I have to play in the club's future, but hopefully this can be the turning point for me and Everton.

"When he was here before Everton were even better than Liverpool and that's where we hope he can take us again.

Cottee hopes a heart-to-heart discussion with the new Everton boss will reveal where his career is going after a traumatic start to the season.

A viral infection in the summer left the former West Ham striker feeling as though he was at 'death's door' and the club's disastrous start to the season did little to lift his spirits.

'It's been a very difficult time for everyone at the club, full of uncertainty and the despondency that goes with failure," he explains. "We were all disappointed when Colin was sacked and the overall opinion of the players was that we had let him down.

"I know we've had our differences in the past, but I never lost respect for him. That's why I was delighted when he was brought back in."

The reunion of the Kendall-Harvey management team has been greeted with joy throughout Goodison – and not without a hint of the players, that Joe Royle delighted that Howard is here and welcome for his first home game

Everton take on Tottenham, Gazza and all, in ITV's latest live offering and Cottee intends to be in the thick of the action.

"Spurs are a great team to play against and I'm sure it's going to Howard's Mission of Mersey

he effects of Howard Kendall's theatrical return to the Everton hot seat are still being

Dreams

Not so for their Goodison Park adversaries who are already dreaming of Championship success they once feared had been success they once feared had been consigned to memory.

And it's all down to one man.
In his first spell as Everton boss Howard Kendall achieved what all other First Division managers had failed to accomplish parity with Liverpool. Two Championship triumphs in the space of three seasons are testimony to that.
And now, as then, Kendall's mission of Mersey remains the same. The prodigal son has returned to break the Liverpool stranglehold which has tightened since he left the club more than three years ago.

The appeal of the continent lured him away from Goodison in 1987 and when his reign in Spain with Athletic Bilbao ended, Maine Road provided the next stopping off point on his route back to Merseyside.

Home, as they say, is where the heart is and Kendall put his latest managerial move into perspective when he announced: "If City was a love affair, then Everton is a marriage.

"My heart has always been at Goodison Park after 14 years of football committment with this club. I don't want to take anything away from City, but this place has always meant so much to me.

"I intend to get on with making Everton the club that it was when I left – the best in soccer."

"I am here to win the First Division Championship and make it a hat-trick of League titles for this particular management

The 'management team' in question turned out to be that of Kendall and Colin Harvey who was sacked as boss and then reinstated as number two to the new boss within a week.

It took true blue Harvey 'two and a half seconds' to accept his latest position. It's going to take the dynamic duo a lot longer than that to put Everton back on a par with their rivals at nearby Anfield.
